Don't Let Clutter Rule Your Life

Boxes of papers. Shelves full of dusty salt and pepper shakers. Mountains of clothing. Bathtubs full of unsent gifts. Guest rooms where no bed can be found under tons of "stuff."

Turn on cable television and you're bound to run across one of the new anti-clutter programs wherein a team of cleaning experts confronts exceptionally cluttered families.

The shows, hugely successful on cable, let the viewer gawk at the excesses of everyday people whose interests (and disinterests) have led to household chaos. In each version of the anti-clutter programming, householders learn they must let go of their junk and, in return, the clean teams come in, clean up, and redecorate.

All this has spawned a new philosophy of neat. The commandments:

- Just because it was a gift, does not mean you must keep it.
- Don't keep things because you think you might use them someday.
- Don't let your home be a dumping ground for someone else's junk.
- Let go of mementoes of the past so you have room for the future.
- Don't keep things that don't work, don't fit, or are no longer relevant.

Roomba for the Garden

For anyone who faces the constant aggravation of having to weed the garden all summer long, there might be some relief coming in the form of a little weeding robot called Tertill. According to Engadget, the makers of the popular automatic vacuum cleaner Roomba have been working on the product and started a Kickstarter campaign in June to fund their efforts.

The machine is solar-powered, waterproof, and uses sensors to identify weeds and chop them down with a little cutter. The kit comes with little collars that alert the Tertill to stay away from and protect actual plants and vegetables. Although most people would typically pull a weed up by its roots, this device plans to chop down the weeds repeatedly until they wither and die. It has some limitations and special requirements to work most effectively, but tending a garden might one day become as easy as watching the plants grow.

Totality: The Great American Eclipse Cometh

From Oregon to South Carolina, Americans will see the sight that has left mankind trembling and astonished for as long as humans have walked the earth.

The Great American Total Eclipse will be one for the record books as totality junkies from across the globe hurry to the best viewing destinations.

On August 21, 2017, for the first time in 99 years, the earth, moon, and stars will line up perfectly in a total eclipse that can be viewed in 14 states. Best viewing is predicted to be in Oregon where sunshine is predicted, especially near Madras. Local time will be 10:21 a.m. PDT and totality will last for about 2 minutes and 7 to 8 seconds, depending on where the viewer stands.

On the East Coast, the eclipse will start a little after 1 p.m. and reach totality just before 3 p.m.

Further inland, viewers in Illinois and Kentucky will experience 40 seconds more totality.

"A solar eclipse can only take place at the phase of new moon, when the moon passes directly between the sun and Earth and its shadow falls upon Earth's surface," according to space.com.

The eclipse will be actively pursued by a sub-culture of totality followers who travel to various parts of the world to experience the out-of-this-world phenomena many times during the year. Scientists will also be watching the display and the shadow allows them to see solar flares.

No, you can't look at the sun and watch the eclipse. No.

If you have ever held a small magnifying glass over dry grass, you know what happens. The sun's rays become so focused that the grass catches fire.

That is what will happen to your eyes if you attempt to watch the eclipse. Your retina will burn up. You won't know it until you can't see any more.

DO NOT LOOK AT THE SUN WITH THE NAKED EYE.

Do not look at the eclipse through binoculars or a telescope or a camera lens. The same thing happens: Your retina burns up.

Do NOT use sunglasses, polaroid filters, smoked glass, exposed color film, x-ray film, or photographic neutral-density filters.

What you can do is make a pinhole projector. There are many instructions online for this.

For ideas on how to view, go to www.exploratorium.edu/eclipse/how-to-view-eclipse.

Low-carb Stuffed Peppers Spice Up the Season

Bell peppers have it all: They're nutritious, fun to grow, pest resistant and beautiful.

Unlike most, bell peppers (named for their distinctive shape) don't have the spicy ingredient capsaicin and are, instead, tangy with a satisfying crisp.

Like all peppers, bells love the warmth and gardeners must take care that the soil is at a minimum of 67 degrees before planting. Once in the ground, these peppers do a good job of resisting garden pests.

Nutritionally, they do some heavy lifting. A medium pepper provides 159 percent of the daily vitamin C requirement with no cholesterol and virtually no fat. The red bells are actually older versions of the green bells and have even more vitamin C.

They are delicious on a low carb diet for snacks, dipping or, as in this recipe, as part of a main course. The traditional stuffed pepper recipe usually includes rice, which soaks up juices and holds the dish together. In this recipe, the filling has no rice and is therefore looser, but also is very low in carbs.

A medium bell has about six carbs overall or four net carbs when accounting for fiber. All the carbs in this recipe are in the marinara sauce, which has about nine net carbs per half cup. You can estimate one stuffed bell pepper at about 13 carbs.

Peppers stuffed with Italian sausage and beef

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------|
| *1/2-pound ground beef | *2 cloves garlic, minced |
| *1/2-pound ground Italian sausage | *1 (15.5-oz) jar marinara sauce |
| *1/2 sweet onion, chopped | *1/2 teaspoon dried oregano |
| *2 large red, yellow, or green bell peppers. | |

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cook beef and sausage in a large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat 5 minutes or until browned and crumbly.

Drain well as the filling will be juicy, and no extra juices are needed.

Sauté onion and garlic in pan 5 minutes or until tender. Stir in beef mixture, marinara, and oregano. Cook 2 to 3 minutes or until thoroughly heated.

For a cute cap look, cut bell peppers in half vertically; discard seeds and membranes.

Spoon beef mixture into peppers. Place in a baking dish. Bake 20 minutes or until peppers are tender. For toppings, try arugula and basil or your favorite cheese.

Buy Happiness: New Experiences Count

You won't find happiness at the mall in the form of a huge new TV or in the department store in the form of new clothes or a fancy coffee pot. They will not increase your overall happiness.

Spending money on experiences maximizes happiness, says Michael Norton, an associate professor at Harvard Business School and co-author of Happy Money: The Science of Smarter Spending.

* According to research published in Health magazine, people who spent money on concert tickets or simply a planned dinner out were happier than those who spent money on tangible goods. One reason: they get more pleasure from social bonding.

The pleasure begins as you anticipate the event, which can be as valuable as the event itself. Afterward, recalling it will continue to give you pleasure in the following weeks or months. Even if the event doesn't turn out to be as nice as you thought it would, it still counts. People tend to remember things as better than they were.

* Don't worry about self-improvement. Take pleasure in what's already good about yourself. At the University of Zurich, they say identifying your strong suits is better. Think about your top five strengths in your relationships at the office and in your home, and you will experience more happiness.

* Enjoy the pleasure of giving. Giving to charities will make you feel good about yourself, but Dr. Norton's research finds that doing things for people you know makes you happiest. You'll love the joy rush from the positive feedback.

About Our Company

What began as a solo housecleaning operation founded by Nicole Bernath in 1996, has since grown into a professional residential cleaning service. We employ over 15 team members who are well trained and take care of your home like it's their own. Our teams service homes in Plymouth and South Lyon including surrounding communities within 10 miles.

In order to maintain consistency with our cleaning process, we provide all supplies and equipment needed to give your home a thorough top-to-bottom cleaning each visit. We do ask the homeowner to provide a vacuum so allergens are not spread from one home to another. All products we use are 100% natural and non-toxic that contain tea tree oil, citrus solvents, and essential oils.

Rhyme Crime Spree

Bad poetry thrives and it's not just your sentimental Aunt that commits rhyme crimes; Performing artists do too.

The Turtles weren't the first or the last to commit rhyme crime with their 1967 hit "Happy Together" and its non-sequitur phrase: So happy together; And how is the weather?

In 2006, you had to feel for Madonna whose "I Love New York" forced this rhyme: I don't like cities, but I like New York; Other places make me feel like a dork.

With this in mind, Aug. 18 brings you Bad Poetry Day when even you can write lines like this. When finished, send them to your high school English teacher!

Avoid a Medical Emergency - Heat and Humidity Add Up to Danger

Emergency rooms see an increase in cases of heat stroke and dehydration in July and August.

The American College of Emergency Physicians gives this advice on how to stay safe in hot weather:

*Check the heat index before going out to work, play or practice and plan accordingly.

*Avoid direct sunlight in the middle of the day. Schedule activities for the early morning or early evening hours.

*Wear loose, light-colored clothes and hats. Dark colors absorb more heat.

*Drink lots of water or sports drinks; about 8 ounces an hour when in the sun to avoid dehydration.

*Take frequent breaks in the shade or in air-conditioning to cool off.

Calculate the "apparent temperature" before taking part in activities. According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration:

* At 90 degrees and 50 percent humidity, it feels like 96. At 70 percent humidity, it feels like 106 degrees. Heat exhaustion is likely, so take it easy.

Heat exhaustion can include cramps, heavy sweating, nausea, heart-rate changes and dizziness. Get the victim out of the sun, remove excess clothing and place cool towels on extremities. Fan and give small sips of water.

* At 95 degrees and 50 percent humidity, it feels like 107 degrees. At 70 percent humidity, it feels like 124 degrees. At that temperature and at any higher temperature or humidity, it is extremely dangerous to be outside and heatstroke could occur.

* At 100 degrees, humidity ranging from 35 percent to 55 percent can cause heat exhaustion. At 100 degrees, humidity of 60 percent or higher puts a person into heat stroke territory.

Heatstroke is a medical emergency. Symptoms include confusion, an altered mental state, unconsciousness and hot, dry skin. Call 911. Do not give fluids, which can cause seizures.
